

September 12, 2019

To Whom It May Concern,

Hyewon Joo was a student of mine at TALK English Schools, Boston from June 12, 2017 through July 20, 2018. Over the course of the year that Hyewon was studying at TALK I was able to see how focused, intelligent, and committed to her future she was. Hyewon not only reached the Advanced English level she also participated in our TOEFL and Business English programs. Hyewon was always ready for a challenge and always wanted to learn new things and push herself to understand more. As Hyewon excelled academically she was the top choice for TALK admissions and marketing to assist with special projects for the Korean market.

Hyewon worked with the TALK admissions and marketing teams from December 4, 2017 through July 20, 2018 and upheld her responsibilities like a true professional. Assisting with both local recruitment and marketing as well as international enrollments Hyewon excelled and was able to show her organization skills, IT skills, business administration skills, and customer service skills. This role allowed her to have both an academic experience as well as a paraprofessional experience while in Boston.

I am confident that Hyewon's academic strengths, her professional experiences, and her travel experiences around the world makes her a complete candidate with any future endeavors she will plan for. Hyewon will be an exceptional member of a team, will add a lot and bring a wonderful dynamic to a company. I give my utmost support for Hyewon.

Sincerely,

Nicole Barone-Williams
School Director
TALK English Schools, Boston